about us

Kolar Design, powered by Kolar Group, is a woman-owned strategic experience design firm that helps organizations align space with culture, brand, and business goals. For more than 35 years, we have combined research, strategy, and human-centered design to create environments that inspire connection, strengthen performance, and deliver measurable business impact.

Insight driven by design

Every successful environment begins with understanding people. Through research, visioning, and workplace strategy, we uncover the insights that guide smarter decisions and create a foundation for meaningful change.

Designed for impact

We translate insight into branded environments and interior experiences that bring culture to life, strengthen engagement, and support organizational performance. The result is spaces that work better for people and business

20% improvement in space optimization

31% increase in employee experience

50% reduction in cost per FTE
